DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 8 & 15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. Specifically, it is unclear whether the truss is a peripheral item on the body, or if the truss is simply the body. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 1-6 and 9-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Schenkman (US 4593818). With respect to claim 1, Schenkman discloses the following:

- A body
- A first flange, engaging lower rim of upper can (upper side of item 16)
- A second flange, opposite of first flange, engaging upper rim of lower can (lower side of item 16)

- A third flange extending radially from body, perpendicular to first and second flanges (Fig. 3, the substantially flat portion extending from item 16)

With respect to claims 2 & 11, Schenkman discloses at least one of the flanges having a perimeter similar to the cans.

With respect to claims 3 & 12, Schenkman discloses the flanges having circular perimeters.

With respect to claims 4 & 13, Schenkman discloses at least one of the flanges being discontinuous, as shown in Fig. 2.

With respect to claims 5 & 14, Schenkman discloses an aperture.

With respect to claims 6 & 15, to the degree that the claim is understood, Schenkman discloses the body including a truss, wherein the thickened area 16 adds strength to the container, therefore acting as a truss member.

With respect to claim 9, although Schenkman does not explicitly disclose the claimed method, said method is inherent in the invention of Schenkman, wherein said method comprises the following steps:

- Squaring the edge of the upper rim of the lower can and the lower rim of the upper can
- Retaining the upper can in position by releasably engaging a portion of the inside face of the lower rim of the upper can, wherein the upper can is engaged with the coupler, similar to the configuration of Fig. 3.

Art Unit: 3727

- Retaining the lower can in position by releasably engaging a portion of the inside face of the upper rim of the lower can, wherein the lower can is engaged with the coupler, as shown in Fig. 3

With respect to claim 10, Schenkman discloses the following:

- A body
- A first flange, engaging lower rim of upper can (upper side of item 16)
- A second flange, opposite of first flange, engaging upper rim of lower can (lower side of item 16)
- A third flange extending radially from body, perpendicular to first and second flanges (Fig. 3, the substantially flat portion extending from item 16)
- An upper and lower can, each with an upper and lower rim (Fig. 3)

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claims 7-8, and 16-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Schenkman in view of Paul (US 3661097). With respect to the claims, Schenkman discloses the claimed invention except for the body including a grip, the grip being a notch on the periphery of the body. Nonetheless, Paul teaches a can stacker having notches on the body periphery, thus serving as grips (Fig. 4). Having grips as such reduces weight and provides an ergonomic gripping structure. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify the stacker body of Schenkman to have notch grips as taught by Paul so as to reduce weight and provides an ergonomic gripping structure.

Conclusion

7. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
